Background

- A nib is a major private health insurer (PHI) which supplies private health insurance policies to Australian and New Zealand residents.
- B HH is a health services and data science company appointed by nib to provide various services including contract negotiation and drafting in respect of nib's contracts and arrangements with hospitals, medical specialists and other healthcare providers (Providers).
- C HH has worked with nib to, among other things:
- (i) administer nib's MediGap scheme (nib's version of the medical gap scheme);
 - (ii) implement the Broad Clinical Partners Program (BCPP) which involves nib entering into medical purchaser provider agreements with medical specialists to provide a "no gap" experience to nib customers for a single course of treatment involving multiple medical specialists. Presently, the BCPP is confined to hip and knee joint replacement surgery in NSW and QLD but there are plans to expand this program.

Application and ACCC determination

- D On 24 December 2020, the Authorisation Applicants jointly applied for authorisation from the ACCC under s 88(1) of the Competition and Consumer Act 2010 (Cth) for HH to form a joint buying group (the HH Buying Group) and provide contracting and related services to PHIs and other healthcare payers (Application). The Application was amended three times during the authorisation process —on 8 April 2021, 21 April 2021 and on 6 May 2021 — for the purpose of responding to issues raised during that process.
- E The contracting services HH proposes to offer to healthcare payers that join the HH Buying Group include:
- (i) contracting negotiations and drafting;
 - (ii) data analytics;
 - (iii) contract administration and management;
 - (iv) dispute resolution services (in relation to contractual arrangements);
 - (v) management of customer complaints; and
 - (vi) performance and compliance assessment (reporting and oversight of parties' adherence to terms and conditions of contractual arrangements).
- F The contracting services are to be provided to Participants in relation to hospital purchaser provider agreements with private hospitals, medical purchaser provider agreements with medical specialists, medical gap schemes and general treatment networks. Most relevantly, it is proposed that HH would offer Participants of the HH Buying Group the ability to access (on an opt in basis):
- (i) HH's own medical gap scheme (which would be derived from nib's MediGap Scheme); and
 - (ii) the BCPP.
- G On 21 September 2021, the ACCC issued its Final Determination, authorising:
- (i) the formation and operation of the HH Buying Group, including the BCPP, involving the provision of services to Authorised Entities;
 - (ii) the acquisition of contracting services by Authorised Entities from HH.
- (together, the Proposed Conduct)
- H The ACCC authorised the Proposed Conduct for a period of five years(Authorisation).

Review applications

- I On 8 October 2021, the Review Applicants filed separate applications seeking review of the Final Determination (Review Applications) before the Australian Competition Tribunal (with identifiers ACT 4 of 2021 and ACT 5 of 2021) (Review Proceedings).
- J The Parties agreed to a deed of settlement and release dated 18 July 2022 to resolve the Review Proceedings (First Deed). The Parties have agreed to terminate the First Deed.
- K The Parties have agreed to resolve the Review Proceedings on the terms set out in this Deed without any admission of liability by any Party.

Appendix A – Form of statement by AMA to members

EDM Subject line:

STRONGER PROTECTION FOR PATIENTS AND DOCTORS SECURED IN ADDITIONAL CONDITIONS ON MEDICAL BUYING GROUP ARRANGEMENTS

Dear << Test Salutation >> << Test Last Name >>

I'm writing to let you know about the outcome of protracted negotiations with buying group Honeysuckle Health (HH) and nib health funds to secure stronger protection for clinical autonomy and patient care.

Last year the Australian Competition and Consumer Commission (ACCC) authorised HH to collectively negotiate and administer contracts with healthcare providers (including hospitals, medical specialists and allied health professionals) on behalf of participants in its buying group.

The AMA and other medical groups provided multiple submissions to the ACCC. The ACCC granted authorisation subject to a condition that major private health insurers be excluded from participation in the buying group and that the period of authorisation be limited to five years, rather than the requested ten years.

The Rehabilitation Medicine Society of Australia and New Zealand (RMSANZ) and National Association of Practising Psychiatrists (NAPP) filed review applications with the Australian Competition Tribunal over concerns at how the ACCC's decision would impact on rehabilitation and psychiatric services.

Earlier this year, the AMA successfully applied to formally intervene in these review proceedings. This has been a large endeavour for Federal Secretariat and the AMA more broadly.

We engaged external counsel and an external economist and I also lodged a detailed witness statement recognising many of the concerns of our psychiatry and rehabilitation colleagues. The AMA was particularly concerned about the potential for doctors to be economically coerced into signing agreements that contain targets.

I am pleased to tell you that a legally binding agreement has been reached with Honeysuckle Health which reinforces strong protections for doctors and patients for specialist services funded by private health insurers who choose to participate in the HH buying group.

These protections are in addition to the conditions already put in place by the ACCC. This means that the authorisation will continue to be limited to five years and will continue to exclude the major health funds.

The additional conditions agreed by nib and HH are set out in summary in the Attachment. nib and HH must keep records of their compliance with these conditions and AMA, NAPP and RMSANZ can each play an ongoing role in ensuring compliance.

We are pleased to see that Honeysuckle Health has listened to the concerns of doctors. During our discussions, HH emphasised their desire to work with doctors to innovate in the delivery of health care and we believe this settlement will support that cooperation without putting patient care and clinician choice at risk.

When the ACCC handed down its authorisation decision last year, it focused largely on competition issues. The additional conditions agreed with HH focus on the clinical aspects of a patient's care and the critical importance of preserving patient and clinician choice.

Whilst Honeysuckle Health has throughout the process emphasised that buying group activities will not (and cannot legally) interfere with the clinical autonomy of doctors and their decisions about patient care, the AMA has worked hard to ensure that this commitment is enshrined in a legally binding deed.. The additional conditions agreed with Honeysuckle Health ensure that patients are protected and decisions about the care of patients remain in the hands of patients and their doctors.

The settlement includes many important protections. For example, doctors who do not wish to participate in Broad Clinical Partners Program (BCPP) or other new programs developed by HH will retain access to a medical gap scheme.

Honeysuckle Health has also undertaken to retain many of the existing features of the nib medical gap scheme, including the ability to opt out for individual patients.

Where a doctor chooses to participate in BCPP or another program developed by HH, rules will be in place to ensure additional data is collected with genuine patient consent.

Honeysuckle Health has also acknowledged that, while clinical guidelines are important in guiding decision making, they need to be developed by independent specialist medical bodies and may not be applicable in all cases. In all cases, doctors must have the clinical autonomy to act in the best interests of the patient.

HH also recognised the importance of transparency. The settlement gives specialists broad rights to disclose the terms (other than prices) of BCPP and other agreements to their patients, the AMA or other relevant professional bodies and their Medical Defence Organisations or other professional advisers.

The AMA will be happy to assist any members who have concerns over any agreements they have, or are discussing with, the Honeysuckle health buying group.

The AMA has been at great pains - and I must say, great expense - to secure these protections for you, our members, as well as our specialty colleagues.

We look forward to working constructively with Honeysuckle Health throughout the next four years to ensure doctors continue to have a strong voice in this process.

Yours sincerely

Dr Omar Khorshid
President

STRONGER PROTECTION FOR PATIENTS AND DOCTORS SECURED IN ADDITIONAL CONDITIONS ON MEDICAL BUYING GROUP ARRANGEMENTS

Dear << Test Salutation >> << Test Last Name >>

I'm writing to let you know about the outcome of protracted negotiations with buying group Honeysuckle Health (HH) – a joint venture between Cigna, a USA health insurer, and nib, an Australian private health insurer) and nib health funds to secure stronger protection for clinical autonomy and patient care.

Last year the Australian Competition and Consumer Commission (ACCC) authorised HH to collectively negotiate and administer contracts with healthcare providers (including hospitals, medical specialists and allied health professionals) on behalf of participants in its buying group.

NAPP, the Rehabilitation Medicine Society of Australia and New Zealand (RMSANZ), the Australian Medical Association (AMA) and other medical groups provided multiple submissions to the ACCC. The ACCC granted authorisation subject to a condition that major private health insurers be excluded from participation in the buying group and that the period of authorisation be limited to five years, rather than the requested ten years.

NAPP and RMSANZ filed review applications with the Australian Competition Tribunal over concerns at how the ACCC's decision would impact on rehabilitation and psychiatric services. Earlier this year, the AMA successfully applied to formally intervene in these review proceedings.

NAPP and RMSANZ were represented by pro bono barristers and solicitors in the proceedings. We are very grateful for their generous efforts on our behalf.

We submitted witness statements and legal submissions outlining our concerns about the potential for doctors to be economically coerced into signing agreements that contain targets, health insurer determined clinical guidelines, and demands for patient and provider information and data that would have intruded into independent clinical decision-making. The AMA engaged external counsel and an external economist to provide support for these concerns. We are very thankful for the assistance of the AMA.

I am pleased to tell you that a legally binding agreement has been reached with Honeysuckle Health, which reinforces strong protections for doctors and patients for specialist services, funded by private health insurers who choose to participate in the HH buying group. This agreement maintains strong protections for psychiatrists who do not wish to participate in the HH buying group's BCPP program to continue to be able to use no-gap contracts.

These protections are in addition to the conditions already put in place by the ACCC. This means that the authorisation will continue to be limited to five years and will continue to exclude the major health funds.

The additional conditions agreed by nib and HH are set out in summary in the Attachment. nib and HH must keep records of their compliance with these conditions and the AMA, NAPP and RMSANZ can each play an ongoing role in ensuring compliance.

We are pleased to see that Honeysuckle Health has listened to the concerns of doctors. During our discussions, HH emphasised their desire to work with doctors to innovate in the delivery of health care. We believe this settlement will support that cooperation without putting patient care and clinician autonomy at risk.

When the ACCC handed down its authorisation decision last year, it focused largely on competition issues. The additional conditions agreed with HH focus on the clinical aspects of a patient's care and the critical importance of preserving the doctor-patient relationship and preserving patient and clinician collaborative choices.

Whilst Honeysuckle Health has throughout the process emphasised that buying group activities will not (and cannot legally) interfere with the clinical autonomy of doctors and their decisions about patient care, we have worked hard to ensure that this commitment is enshrined in a legally binding deed. The additional conditions agreed with Honeysuckle Health ensure that patients are protected and decisions about the care of patients remain in the hands of patients and their doctors.

The settlement includes many important protections. For example, doctors who do not wish to participate in Broad Clinical Partners Program (BCPP) contracts or other new schemes developed by HH will retain access to a medical gap scheme.

Honeysuckle Health has also undertaken to retain many of the existing features of the nib medical gap scheme, including the ability to opt out for individual patients.

Where a doctor chooses to participate in BCPP or another scheme developed by HH, rules will be in place to ensure additional data is collected with genuine patient consent.

Honeysuckle Health has also acknowledged that, while clinical guidelines are important in guiding decision making, they need to be developed by independent specialist medical bodies and are unlikely to be applicable in the same way for individual patients. Psychiatrists must always have the clinical independence to act in the best interests of the patient.

Transparency is protected. The settlement gives psychiatrists broad rights to disclose the terms (other than prices) of BCPP and other agreements to their patients, NAPP, RMSANZ, the AMA or other relevant professional bodies and their Medical Defence Organisations or other professional advisers.

NAPP, RMSANZ, and the AMA will be happy to assist any members who have concerns over any agreements they have, or are discussing with, the Honeysuckle health buying group.

NAPP has been at great pains to secure these protections for you, our members, our patients, and our psychiatric and specialty colleagues.

| July 2022 |

We look forward to working constructively with Honeysuckle Health throughout the next four years to ensure doctors continue to have a strong voice in this process.

Yours sincerely,

Prof Philip Morris AM
President NAPP
